Terri Levine (SAY Luh-VEEN) is the founder of the Heartpreneur Network. As the Chief Heartpreneur her company is changing the way business owners around the world connect with their target audiences, then sell and serve their customers and their employees. The Heartpreneur Network has business owners stop selling, marketing and operating businesses using traditional methods and moves them into true, authentic, heart-to-heart people centered communication models where sales and marketing aren't even necessary.

Dr. Levine has more than 30 years of business, sales and marketing experience, encompassing work with over 5,000 business owners. She is also a best-selling author and very popular keynote speaker.

Terri's latest book Tubocharge: How To Transform Your Business As A Heartpreneur hit the Amazon bestseller list 24 hours after release. Terri has a mission of changing the way business is done in the 21st century and creating a movement of hundreds of thousands of Heartpreneurs doing business heart-to-heart.
